It is the contention of the applicant that they manufacture Ayurvedic products using Ayurvedic ingredients which are helpful in the treatment of specified disorders and that their products are primarily to prevent, control, cure or mitigate skin and hair related problems and that these medicaments have prophylactic properties also.

They contended that these products are to be used for a specific period prescribed and that there is no requirement to continue the same once the physiological disorder is addressed. They contended that these products are purchased online by the customer after verifying the information, ingredients and usage of the products. The applicant contends that all the goods manufactured by them are sold as medicaments and therefore are eligible to be taxed as Ayurvedic medicaments i.e., under HSN '30049011'.

The commodity medicaments & skin care products are enumerated in Notification No. 01/2017 dt. 28.06.2017 under different schedules of the said notification as follows:

Schedule No.	S.No in the Schedule	Chapter/Heading /Subheading/ Tariff item	Description of Goods	Rate of CGST
I	178	30	Medicaments (including veterinary medicaments) used in bio-chemic systems and not bearing a brand name	2.5
	180	30 or any Chapter	Drugs or medicines including their salts and esters and diagnostic test kits, specified in List 1 appended to this Schedule	2.5
	181A	30	Medicaments (including those used in Ayurvedic, Unani, Siddha,	2.5

			Homeopathic or Bio-chemic systems), manufactured exclusively in accordance with the formulae described in the authoritative books specified in the First Schedule to the Drugs and Cosmetics Act, 1940 (23 of 1940) or Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of India or the United States of America or the United Kingdom or the German Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia, as the case may be, and sold under the name as specified in such books or pharmacopoeia]
II	62	3003	Medicaments (excluding goods of heading 30.02, 30.05 or 30.06) consisting of two or more constituents which have been mixed together for therapeutic or prophylactic uses, not put up in measured doses or in forms or packings for retail sale, including Ayurvedic, Unani, Siddha, homoeopathic or Bio-chemic systems medicaments	6
	63	3004	Medicaments (excluding goods of heading 30.02, 30.05 or 30.06) consisting of mixed or unmixed products for therapeutic or prophylactic uses, put up in measured doses (including those in the form of transdermal administration systems) or in forms or packings for retail sale, including Ayurvedic, Unani, homoeopathic siddha or Bio-chemic systems medicaments, put up for retail sale	6

Further the explanation to Notification No. 01/2017 elaborates the procedure to interpret the entries in the schedules of the Notification as follows:

"Explanation –

(1) In this Schedule, "tariff item", "heading", "sub-heading" and "Chapter" shall mean respectively a tariff item, heading, sub-heading and Chapter as specified in the First Schedule to the Customs Tariff Act, 1975 (51 of 1975).

(2) The rules for the interpretation of the First Schedule to the said Customs Tariff Act, 1975, including the Section and Chapter Notes and the General Explanatory Notes of the First Schedule shall, so far as may be, apply to the interpretation of this notification."

A survey of the material submitted by the applicant reveals that the issue to be determined is whether the products manufactured by them fall under chapter '33' or chapter '30' of the customs tariff code as these products have the shades or qualities of both skin care/cosmetic as well as cure of certain ailments.

The Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in the case of Commissioner of Central Excise, Mumbai IV Vs Ciens Laboratories (2013) 14 SCC 133 formulated the following principles for determining the nature of a product as to whether it is a medicament or a cosmetic:

"Firstly, when a product contains pharmaceutical ingredients that have therapeutic or prophylactic or curative properties, the proportion of such ingredients is not invariably decisive. What is of importance is the curative attributes of such ingredients that render the product a medicament and not a cosmetic.

Secondly, though a product is sold without a prescription of a medical practitioner, it does not lead to the immediate conclusion that all products that are sold over/across the counter are cosmetics. There are several products that are sold over-the-counter and are yet, medicaments.

Thirdly, prior to adjudicating upon whether a product is a medicament or not, Courts have to see what the people who actually use the product understand the product to be. If a product's primary function is "care" and not "cure", it is not a medicament. Cosmetic products are used in enhancing or improving a person's appearance or beauty, whereas medicinal products are used to treat or cure some medical condition. A product that is used mainly in curing or treating ailments or diseases and contains curative ingredients even in small quantities is to be branded as a medicament."

Further the Hon'ble Apex Court of India in the case of Commissioner of Central Excise vs. Hindustan Lever Ltd. (25.08.2015 - SC) (2015) 10 SCC 742 has addressed this issue as follows:

"To put it in a nutshell, if a particular product is substantially for the care of skin and simply because it contains subsidiary pharmaceutical or antiseptic constituents or is having subsidiary curative or prophylactic value, it would not become medicament and would still qualify as the product for the care of the skin.

There would be certain products which would be purely for the care of skin and certain other products would be clearly medicament and such cases may not pose any problem.

The issue of determination as to whether a particular product falls in Chapter 33 or Chapter 30 would arise in those cases where certain products have the shades or qualities of both, namely, skin care as well as cure of skin diseases. In such cases, the necessary exercise requires to be undertaken.

Whenever product has curative or prophylactic value as well, but the Department still wants the said product to be brought under Chapter Heading 3304.00, onus is on the Department to show that it is not medicament. For this, it will have to demonstrate that curative or prophylactic value is only subsidiary in nature or that the product is covered by the description under chapter notes 5, namely, either it is chiropody or barrier cream to give protection against skin irritants. If the Department fails to discharge this onus, the product has to be treated as medicament and would be covered under Chapter 30."

The Hon'ble Apex Court in the above case also observed that "What is more relevant is the purpose for which the product is used namely, functional test".

In Commissioner of Central Excise v. Wockhardt Life Sciences Limited (2012) 5 SCC 585 the Hon'ble Apex Court while discussing the Interplay of Chapter 30 vis-à-vis Chapter 34 (which deals with detergent products), observed that:

"In our view, as we have already stated, the combined factors that require to be taken note of for the purpose of the classification of the goods are the composition, the product literature, the label, the character of the product and the use to which the product is put."

Drawing from the above and based on the information submitted by the applicant, the undersigned authority for advance ruling propose to classify the products either as a cosmetic whose primary function is care and not cure which is used for enhancing-improving a person's appearance -beauty or on the other hand a medicament used to treat or cure a medical condition by adopting the following parameters:

- a) The product should have a drug license.
- b) The Composition of the product should have medical ingredients.
- c) The product label/character should indicate the function or the purpose for which it is used.

It is seen that all the products mentioned above have a drug license and have Ayurvedic ingredients, but the purpose and function as seen from the literature submitted differ therefore a conclusion for each of the products are made as follows:
